We established Annapurna henna with the aim of meeting the growing demand for undiluted natural ingredients in the industry. Our company is dedicated to producing, supplying, and exporting premium quality, certified organic henna and herbs. Annapurna henna is a product brand owned by Annapurna enterprises, which markets and sells products under its own label. Our herbs belong to different categories and are highly sought after in both domestic and international markets by companies that specialize in natural products for their formulations. We prioritize partnering with companies that are committed to providing 100% natural products to consumers and adding value to their formulations, whether it is in the form of natural cosmetics, effective Ayurvedic formulations, or other natural products. Our ultimate goal is to work closely with formulators to ensure that consumers have access to the best natural products available.

Who We are ?

- Our main focus has always been on manufacturing, supplying, and exporting the highest quality henna and herbs to both consumers and industries of natural product formulators.
- Having acquired over 24 years of expertise at the grassroots level, we have now expanded our operations significantly, catering to more than three different industries with our diverse range of products, each designed for specific applications.
